"The Evening World" Offers Golden Prize in This Unique Contest.

Should husband and wife be near the same age, or should the wife be much younger?

Every reader of THE EVENING WORLD is invited to compete in this contest.

Contributions in this contest are subject to similar conditions of those in former competitions: The letters must not be over 200 words in length: they must be written on only one side of the paper and must be addressed to "The Marriage Age must be addressed to "The Marriage Age Editor, Evening World, 31 and 32 Park WIT AND HUMOR ON TAP, Row, New York,"

Selected communications from those received will be printed in daily instalments. The best one of all, picked out Step Up, Laughter Lovers, and by competent judges, will win for its writer a prize of a golden double eagle. No letters will be returned unless t request to that effect is made and postage stamps inclosed.

Practical, Toujours Practical,

Happiness depends on the man and woman being good in the true sense of the word, and knowing in every sense what it costs to live. Then there is no danger of them marrying too young un-less they have good prospects. Age is of little consequence. E. D. O. Probably It Wasn't a Matter of senior or junior it cannot make unhappiness if perfect confidence and love be theirs, if no deceit or harsh lenguage is used by either and the Golden Rule be oftimes remembered. PRUDENCE.

No Set Standard Can Govern,

I believe that as love is the ruling spirit in marriage it would be a violation of the laws of nature and an unjust dictation to society to claim that a certain age or difference of age is necessary to insure the happiness and welfare of the parties contemplating marriage.

The tender feelings of the heart and the noble thoughts of the mind alone should decide and master this most important contract of our life. Where a feeling of sincere love and fidelity attends the union happiness is assured.

There can be no true and lasting love without congeniality. There may be a passionate glamor for awhile, but it does not last. Love at first sight is all well enough allegorically, but for plain, everyday life I would say, consider well each other's likes and dislikes, and if the tastes are congenial no matter what the differ-
